PRESSURE FROM MEN FORCED UNION HEAD TO TAKE BACKWATER

Full Scale Committee of Forty Miners Would Not Back Lewis In His Demands for Checkoff.

STRIKE NEARS END

Harrisburg Sept. 8.—Technical points of the proposed contract, which will send anthracite miners back to work were discussed today when operators and union delegates went into conference again with Governor Pinchot.

Some dispute has arisen over the details and it may take some time to reach a final conclusion.

Both sides, however, now are in complete accord on the four chief points. Pressure brought by miners in the field forced the union chiefs to back down from their demand for a check-off and this paved the way for settlement of the strike, which is now in its eight day.

The first break in the long negotiations between the two sides came when the operators first agreed to Governor Pinchot's plan of settlement. The miner's sub-committee was reluctant to accept the four points, but the Full Scale Committee composed of forty local union men from the coal field refused to back them.

Under the terms of the settlement the miners will get:

First: A basic ten per cent increase in wages.

Second: An eight hour day, with overtime pay if the men are required to work longer.

Third: Collective bargaining with the operators.

Fourth: Full recognition of the union mine workers organization without the check-off. In this last connection, it was agreed that the union leaders would be permitted to stand alongside the pay windows at the mines on payday and collect union fees, although the operators take no responsibility for the payment. There will be no closed shops.

Wilkes Barre, Pa., Sept. 8.—The anthracite region was jubilant today over the prospect of an early settlement of the coal strike and it was confidenly predicted that the miners would ratify a new agreement.

While some of the radical miners in certain districts, such as Pittston, Nanticoke, etc, are said to favor holding out for more, union leaders said today that a tri-district convention would be sure to approve the peace settlement.

Harrisburg, Sept. 7.—Complete agreement upon the main points at issue between anthracite operators and miners upon the basis of Governor Pinchot's peace proposals was reached here today. Joint negotiations to make the agreement effective in a new wage contract and to clear up outstanding differences of lesser importance between the two sides were called at 7 o'clock tonight.

All participants in the negotiations believe that a settlement will be effective and that the anthracite mines, now shut down by union orders, will be reopened within 10 days. Governor Pinchot, discussing the still unsettled points, declared there is "no point of dispute remaining between the two sides which is in any way likely to justify a continuation of the strike."

Unions Must Approve.

Any final agreement, whether reached tonight or later, by the union representatives and the operators' policy committee will be subject to approval by a convention of union delegates from the three United Mine Workers' districts of the anthracite region. The assembling of such a convention would require at least a week, but John L. Lewis, president of the miners, and other miners' union officials, were certain a contract would be negotiated and that their recommendations would be accepted by the tri-district convention.

Governor Pinchot's announcement that the miners' union representatives had agreed to take a 10 per cent wage increase and abandon their demand for "check-off" collection of union dues came at the end of a brief session, in which he met again members

"CROSS CROSSING CAREFULLY" DRIVE IS NOT EFFECTIVE

Fatal Car Accidents at Penna. Railroad Points Doubled In Month of July Despite Warnings.

HOW IT HAPPENS

Despite all warnings against recklessness ,especially on the part of automobile drivers, fatal accidents at grade crossings on the Pennsylvania Railroad more than doubled during July, as compared with the corresponding month of the previous year. This is brought out in a report of the Company's Insurance Department which shows that in July 1923 there were 46 persons killed and 39 injured, in grade crossing casualties as compared with 21 persons killed and 35 injured in July 1922.

The increase in fatalities was 119 per cent. In one instance nine persons were killed in a single automobile, in another four were killed, and there were three accidents, in each of which three persons were killed.

Study of these accidents powerfully emphasizes the fact that many persons are driving motor cars who are not only helpless in emergencies, but also totally fail to realize their responsibility for protecting from death and injury those who ride with them. The contrast between this condition and the rigid rules and regulations of railroad companies with respect to their locomotive engineers is thus brought out in the Insurance Department's report:

"For safety reasons ,the railroads do not permit any one excepting those on duty to ride with a locomotive engineer ,and persons who have business on engines are forbidden to distract his attention. It is frequently seen that automobiles and trucks are filled to capacity and the drivers are so crowded that access to the brakes and gear shift lever is impeded; the conditions under such circumstances may be so distracting that when an emergency arises, a crash is likely to occur as a result of this interference. If similar conditions existed on passenger locomotives disastrous wrecks would probably be as numerous as crossing accidents.

"The Pennsylvania Railroad System has often operated an entire year without a passenger being killed in a train accident, but it is likely that if locomotive engineers treated their responsigility for the safety of passengers as lightly as many drivers of automopiles do, this record could not have been made."

The report cites a number of cases of shocking disregard of automobile drivers for the safety of themselves and those with them. Among them are the following:

"An automobile, occupied by 8 persons, running 35 miles per hour, ran into the side of a locomotive standing on a crossng, all the occupants being injured.

"An automobile, occupied by 4 persons, was driven into the 24th car of a freight train killing 3 and seriously injuring the other.

"An automobile, occupied by the driver and 4 men companions, was driven into the side of a freight train standing on a crossing. The driver was arrested for driving while intoxicated.

"The driver of a motor truck attempted to drive across tracks ahead of a passenger train after other automobiles had stopped. The truck was struck, one person being killed and one injured.

An automobile was stopped at a crossing on signal of the crossing watchman, when another automobile running at high speed knocked the standing car directly into the path of the approaching train; one person was killed and another injured."

Autoist Comes To His Grief Through Failure To Drive His Car Carefully

The bank along the State road at the edge of the Kurtz farm on the Woodland road is being removed by a crew of State Highway Department employes under Forman C. E. Carlson. The cut is quite heavy for a part of the distance and the rock and dirt is being blasted away. About 12:15 yesterday afternoon while about ready to fire a couple of shots a big Hudson car came dashing along the road at a rapid rate of speed. The driver evidently failed to note the "one way traffic" sign until [illegible] a couple hundred feet of the dirt piles along the road. The car, a Hudson, was being driven by Abe Cohen, of Winburne. He clamped his brakes on and slid his wheels along over the road a distance of one hundred and fifty feet before his car ploughed into the dirt pile head on and turned over.

Foreman Carlson and his crew rushed to the overturned car and about the time they reached it Cohen untangled himself from the wreck and rolled out onto the highway, with a damaged [illegible] cap, as about the extent of his injuries.

GETTING DOWN TO CLOSER ESTIMATES IN QUAKE FIGURES

Osaka, Sept. 8.—Japanese earthquake sufferers today number 1,356,470. Unofficial announcement to this effect has been issued in Osaka, while Tokio is rapidly becoming the center of Japaneses official and business life.

The same announcement says that 316,087 houses were destroyed by Saturday's shock, the tidal wave and fires that followed.

It is stated that it is still impossible to estimate correctly the dead but a few official figures indicate a loss of more than 50,000 lives in Tokio and Yokohama combined. Reports from outlying districts will be slow in comeing in.

GREAT BALL GAME AT PHILIPSBURG MONDAY

The Williamsport New York-Pennsylvania League Champions for the year 1923 will play an exhibition game of baseball at Scott Field, Philipsburg, on Monday afternoon, September 10th. Philipsburg will oppose the Wiliamsport champs with the best team they can put in the field. Glenn Killinger and Mike Palm, State College stars will be in the line up for Philipsburg, while Walter Harned, who pitched and won a game for Clearfield against Philipsburg in the foolish days of 1921 will pitch for the Centre county team.

The game is being played for the benefit of the Hospital Building and Betterment Fund and every Clearfield fan who can possibly do so should attend.

It will be a great game and a most worthy cause.

Altoona business men during the day and the teams will meet at the Cricket field at 3 o'clock, both clubs using their regular lineups. The Cricket field has seating accommodations for approximately 35,000 people. Accommodations have been made for a large out of the city crowd of fans.

The Pirates have announced that the regular hurling corps of Adams, Cooper, Meadows, Morrison, Hamilton, Bagby, Steineder, Stone, Wright or Minetree would be used with Schmidt, or Mattox or Gooch catching. The Athletics will have Heimach, Hasty, Rommell, Harris and Ogden ready for pitching work.

After the song service, conducted by Professor Yoder, the Institute proceeded to elected officers for the coming year. W. Cecil Davis
Mrs. Esther Calhoun

At the close of the session Thursday afternoon, Dr. Beeler addressed the teachers on the subject "Man's Best Man." He reviewed the outstanding characters in world history, naming Hammurabi as Babylon's greatest man, Confucius the greatest man of China, Socrates of Greece, King 'Tut' of Egypt, and our own beloved Abraham Lincoln as the most outstanding figure in America. Yet all these would kneel in humility and reverence before the 'Great Teacher' who walked the shores of Galilee and taught the doctrine 'Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men." He drew

Mrs. M. J. Owens, of Mt. Joy, received a letter yesterday from her sister, Dr. Rachel Read, who is in Japan and whom it was feared by Dr. Read's relatives here might have been one of the Japanese earthquake victims. No definite word has been received from Dr. Read since the earthquake. It was the opinion of her folks here that she had left Tokio for her summer home in the mountains one hundred miles from the coast and had doubtless escaped the quake which caused such havoc in Tokio.

The letter Mrs. Owens received yesterday was written August 23d and she was overjoyed to learn that her surmises had been correct and that Dr. Read was at her summer home in the mountains. As the letter was dated from there and as it was written just a few days previous to the earthquake there seems to be the best of reasons for believing she was not in Tokio when the disaster occurred.

Klu Klux Clan Burned Four Crosses Near Here Last Night At 9 o'Clock

Clearfield was treated to what is said to have been a real sure enough Ku Klux Klan demonstration last evening. About 9 o'clock a dynamite explosion was heard and despite the rain four crosses were soon blazing upon as many hills about the town in plan view of the townspeople.

Before or during the burning of the crosses a number of cards announcing that the "Ku Klux Klan is here" were distributed about town. These cards contained the following information:—"Ku Klux Klan is Here. For further information write Postoffice box 338, DuBois, Pa.. The old State of Pennsylvania is not what it used to be since the Ku Klux Klan came to town."

Fayette City Woman Mysteriously Missing Since Tuesday Evening

Fayette City, Pa., Sept. 8.—Mysteriously missing since last Tuesday afternoon, when she was seen walking toward her home after visiting a neighbor, Mrs. Winifred Vitula, aged 22, of Fair Hope, two miles south of here, is believed to have been kidnapped by motorists, attracted by her beauty.

State police, Fayette county authorities and local officials were at sea after several days and nights of beating about the underbrush in the vicinity of Fair Hope in the belief that the young woman met with foul play.

Clad in a black sateen cretonne house dress, covered by a sleeveless jacket and wearing tan and grey low cut shoes the young woman was hurrying toward her home in the early afternoon to prepare a meal for her husband, who is a coal miner, when she disappeared.

The fact that nothing in her wardrobe has been touched and a large sum of money was not taken discredits the theory that the young woman left home voluntarily.

RIGHT TO HAVE [illegible] IN RAILWAY [illegible] IS SOUGHT BY [illegible] OF SUSQUEHANNA

Conference Held at Williamsport Yesterday Solidifies Communities In Favor of Action.

MEET HERE SEPT. 22

The business and shipping interests of the West Branch of the Susquehanna Valley marched in full force upon Williamsport yesterday in search of knowledge concerning the proposed merging of the transportation lines of the nation into a limited number of systems. During the past month or so it has just begun to dawn on the people generally that they have a lot at stake in the Transportation Act passed by Congress in 1920 which decreed that the sixteen hundred odd railroads in the nation be merged into a few great systems which, through unified control and operation, could serve more efficiently. The Interstate Commerce Commission, which is the court of last resort in the matter, tentatively have decided upon grouping all of these railroads into twenty-three systems and, on the basis of a report made by Ripley of Yale on the problem, have scrambled the whole mess and shoved it into the proposed twenty three systems.

The Public's Rights.

The plan involves the [illegible]ing of a number of small roads, the allocating of parts of others and the setting up of new through systems of commerce and in such a proposition naturally every shipper has more than a passing interest. The public also has a right to expect that any plan finally approved should do more than maintain a status quo as to adequate transportation, therefore when it was learned that no provision was made for improvement of present facilities or for the requirements of the future of the West Branch Valley, local business men became interested.

Big Attendance.

The New York Central plan of merger set up by President Smith of the N. Y. C., suggested to the I. C. C. as a substitute for the Ripley plan which would better serve the nation, made an impression which seemed to merit strong consideration. Accordingly plans were set in motion for a conference at Williamsport yesterday and it was first proposed that it should be an all day meeting. Later the word went out that it would be an afternoon meeting. Accordingly, the shippers of the valley gathered there yesterday to discuss the I. C. C. plan, the N. Y. C. plan, the Reading plan, etc., from the public angle. Fourteen representative citizens of Clearfield, representing both clubs and individual interests, were present. Twenty-five were there from DuBois. Jersey Shore had five duly accredited delegates, Lock Haven, Brookville, Montgomery, Clarion and, in fact, every community along the N. Y. C. was represented, fully two hundred being in attendance.

Purpose of the Meeting.

When the meeting was called to order, Mr. Thorn, representing President Bell of the Williamsport Board of Trade, presiding, stated the purpose of the meeting as being to hear the various plans outlined and discuss same, and called for nominations for chairman. H. B. Powell, of Clearfield, was named chairman with Maxwell Wingate, secretary. Mr. Powell again outlined the purposes of the meeting, declaring it open to discussion of any or all plans and their effect upon the territory affected and the shipping of the nation. All seemed reluctant to open the discussion; probably because of the complexities of the situation feeling that it should be outlined generally by a competent speaker. Like a stroke from a clear sky came a motion from one of the prominent members of the Williamsport Board of Trade that the meeting adjourn but as ninety per cent of those there were there for business the motion did not prevail. John Fisher, a man most thoroughly conversant with the situation, then took the floor to point out that the under-

Seven Points of Supremacy

1. The sole leather used in "FOOT-FITTERS" is of the best quality obtainable. Even the insoles are cut from standard outsole leather.
2. "FOOT-FITTERS" are the only shoes in the world having full length vamps and sole leather box toes. This feature prevents ripping at the tip and makes a smooth outer and inner surface
3. The insoles are shoulder channeled so that they fit tightly against the outsole. There is no need for room for a cork filler. A small piece of duck is used to prevent squeaking.
4. The Calfskin inside counter pocket is of great value, for it saves the wear on the socks. There is no rough surface to rub against.
5. "FOOT-FITTER" heels are ¼-inch longer than generally used. They give additional support to the arch and increase the comfort and wear of the shoe.
6. The vamp is reinforced with 8-oz. duck This absorbs the moisture from the foot, this keeps the vamp from cracking and holds the shoe in shape.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. Q.

Gust Rolley, of Karthus, one of the most expert and successful fishermen, hunters and trappers in Clearfield County, was in town yesterday and in "talking outdoors" gave us quite a slant at game, fish and wild life conditions in the northern section of the county. We happened along the Caledonia Pike one day last spring while Gust was trying to run down a fox he had trapped during the night and we assisted in the capture of the fox which finally got herself and the trap hanging to her leg, caught in the brush.

Gust cooked for Forest Ranger Bill Buck and his road crew last spring and trapped fifteen adult foxes during the few weeks he was there, which no doubt had a great deal to do with the large number of pheasants and rabbits reported in that section. Now, he has ten of his foxes alive in a den at his home and if he dosen't get a customer for them will keep them until their fur is ripe and ready in the fall and then kill them and get the bounties and make sale of their pelts at a good price. Several of the foxes are exceptionally fine specimens.

Among his trap yield the past season were a pair of mink skins which measured thirty-one and thirty-two inches from tip to tip.

The coal miners have lost their best friend in New York City—Harry B. Rosen, a director of the Harriman National Bank and a special agent of the New York Life Insurance Company. Mr. Rosen died some weeks ago. It was he who said: "The integrity of the 900,000 miners and their families are equal to the wealth of a Rockerfeller. If the national officeers of the coal miners union should again come into this office and want $5,000,000, they could have it in an hour's time."

Mr. Rosen, on behalf of the national officers of the coal miners union, arranged for the $100,000 loan made to them in July, 1922, the security being personal notes given by President John L. Lewis, Vice President J. H. Murry and Secretary-Treasurer William Green. As a result of the transaction the Harriman National Bank became the New York depository for the coal miners. When the mines are open and running the annual income of the notional organization from dues is between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000.

The fame of Rosen prior to his dealings with the miners rested principally upon his success in writing big insurance policies. He signed up Adolph Zukor, the motion picture magnate, for $5,000,000; John McK. Bowman, the hotel magnate, for $2,000,000, and other big men for large policies.

DEVELOPED by nineteen years' experience, the 1924 line of Reo high-powered six-cylinder passenger cars more forcefully expresses the significance of Reo as "The Gold Standard of Values."

The rugged, powerful chassis is hung lower to the road for easier riding, greater safety and improved appearance. The double-frame mounting of power unit—long a distinctive Reo feature,—is maintained. So is the simple dual foot control.

Super strength marks the new rear axle, which combines the advantages of both the semi-floating and full floating types.

Greatly improved and oversized brakes with 15-inch drums and 2½-inch faces provide positive control; a simple, sure and safe design of time-tried goodness is assurance of continued efficiency.

Powered with the wonderful Reo 6-cylinder engine; nothing experimental nor untried. With intake valves in head and exhaust valves at side, positive lubrication and cooling systems and unusual accessibility, it provides dependable power for every driving condition.

Safety—reliability—comfort—economy—roadability—appearance,—on whatever factor motor car satisfaction is based, Reo dominates.

the operators' policy committee and union officials. The operators left the capitol building without letting the decision be known, but Mr. Lewis and the governor remained in the office together to tell what had taken place.

Governor Is Elated.

"It is with the keenest satisfaction that I tell you I am authorized to announce that both miners and operators have now agreed upon the four points of the basis of settlement tendered them, as those points were interpreted in the supplementary statements issued yesterday," the Governor told the assembled newspapermen. "Negotiations for drawing up a new wage contract are to proceed after 7 p. m. in my office between the miners' representatives and the operators' committee and I confidently expect a prompt and complete agreement upon all details.

"In making this announcement I desire to call particular attention to the spirit of fairness and forebearance on the part of both miners and operators with which my efforts to reach a settlement have been met."

Mr. Lewis followed him in a brief address:

"In acquiescing to the four basic points of Governor Pinchot's proposals the representatives of the mine workers have been fully conscious of the public interest. The mine workers proposed to fight to the finish with the anthracite operators and had every reason to believe that the end of such a contest would have brought settlement of their major demands.

Duty to Public Cited.

"We have, however, the natural desire that goes with good citizenship to obviate the public embarrassment and discomfort and the ineyitable suffering that would accompany a conflict between forces of such magnitude.

"We do not feel the wage increase proposed is sufficient to compensate the mine workers for the particular service they render in producing anthracite under the adverse conditions they encounter. Neither do we believe a 10 per cent increase is sufficient to enable them to meet their family needs and other requirements. We feel that our action in this instance in voluntarily agreeing to the public spirited proposals of Governor Pinchot will meet the commendation of the American people and insure for the mine workers a greater degree of consideration for the ills from which they suffer.

"The action of the mine workers was made possible by the operators, when they agreed to abandon their demand for arbitration and their further demand that the mine workers forego asking consideration of the remaining demands not covered by the four points.

Lewis Praises Pinchot.

"In the face of this action representatives of the mine workers are reluctant to continue suspension of production in the industry, which would mean suffering for the mine workers and their families and prove tremendously disturbing to business and seriously dangerous to the American people.

"We have informed the Governor of our willingness to meet the operators and negotiate terms of agreement for a new wage contract, which, when ratified by the mine workers mean a prompt termination of the pending suspension. Governor Pinchot is entitled to the praise of the American people for the diligent and capable manner in which he has devoted himself to the solution of a tremendous problem. The mine workers feel that all credit for the present happy termination of this unfortunate situation is due to him."

Mr. Lewis added that the union order for the suspension of work still stood.

To call it in he explained there must be a satisfactory contract negotiated between the operators and the union's scale committee, a convention of miners' delegates must ratify this and the decision must be conveyed to the local unions. The earliest date at which mining could be resumed under the program sketched, he said, would be a week from Monday, and intervening delays would add to the time.

Lewis Predicts Peace.

At the same time Mr. Lewis and all other union spokesmen were strong in the belief that the remaining differences between operators and the union were insufficient to prevent a final settlement. Operators were less sanguine and agreed to withhold public statements of their views until the end of the meeting, which began later in the evening.

Issues still unsettled between the two groups cover the length of time for which the anticipated wage contract may run, operators being in favor of a single year. The demand of the union for weighing of coal instead of measurement to determine earnings of contract miners; for revision of existing rate sheets to fix earnings of contract miners, and for an increase in the pay hour minimum for all mechanics employed in mine operations and for double time payment for overtime. Upon some of these matters tentative agreements were made at various stages of the recent negotiations, but others were still entirely open. The operators' group, which has been a unit in opposing any wage increase and has announced willingness to make one only at the suggestion of Governor Pinchot, was firm in declaring tonight unwillingness to concede anything as to these points what would add to the cost of coal production.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Gratification was expressed at the White House today at the efforts of Governor Pinchot to bring the anthracite suspension to an end. By the progress he had made the Pennsylvania Govegnor, in the opinion of President Coolidge, has performed a service not only to his home state, but to all consumers of hard coal and especially to the Federal Government in its treatment of a serious problem.

Progress Editorial For Women

HANDICAPPED AT THE START
By FLORENCE DAVIES

"Mother says she'll pay our rent, but I say no. Young people get a better start if they make their way themselves."

It was a broiling day and there was no cooling fan near the counter where gorgeous cretonnes were piled so high that they seemed to intensify the heat with flowers and tropical birds larger and more vivid than any that nature ever contrived. But the girl behind the counter had not been too warm or too tired to be interested in matching a commuter's sample and it was easy to reach the personal note.

"I can't seem to sell as much yard goods as the others, but then I've only been here a few weeks," she confessed. 'Why yes, I like it. Yes, we have to listen to that all day and I do get tired of "no bananas", she smiled as the phonograph at the next counter started on its tireless round once more.

"But I don't mean to stay here always. Just till we get a good start. I've a kiddie two years old—"

And then she told of mother's offer to pay the rent. One was glad that there was an understanding grandma, probably known by some name less suggestive of the chimney corner, after the modern fashion—to look after the baby.

And somehow the day seemed less stifling, the distance to go in a crowded trolley less appalling, even the phonograph less discordant, in the light of the brave little smile that lit the face of baby's mother.

It is so easy to say that all the young folks nowadays shirk responsibility. That they are too "soft" to endure any kind of hardship, and that good times are their only goal. Here was one, at least, ready to do her full part and take the experiment as something to set her farther on her life journey. May she, and all others like her, get the good "start" that they deserve.

Rickenbacker

A • CAR • WORTHY • OF • ITS • NAME

Effective, This Date—

Any Automobile Without 4-Wheel Brakes, is Obsolete!

Read every line of this ad!—it contains good advice and a timely warning for all buyers!

On July first, Rickenbacker announced 4-Wheel Brakes on new models.

We stated then that this would prove "the greatest improvement since the advent of the Self-Starter—13 years ago."

That announcement created a sensation that shook the industry to its very foundations.

Reason for 4-Wheel Brakes is, necessity for greater safety in traffic—not only on city streets, but on the country roads.

Invention, always following closely in the wake of necessity, has produced a perfect system of brakes on all four wheels.

Even rival engineers proclaim this Rickenbacker 4-Wheel Brake "the most beautiful example of fine engineering that has ever graced a motor car—American or European."

Look at them. They tell their own story.

Already, two prominent makers have followed Rickenbacker leadership by announcing 4-Wheel Brakes! Others—

Engineers in all other plants—(we repeat, "all other plants") are feverishly working to produce a workable 4-Wheel Brake system without infringing Rickenbacker design and certain European patents.

Rickenbacker showrooms are crowded all the time—so intense is the interest.

Factory swamped with orders.

Seems as if everyone wants a car with 4-Wheel Brakes and won't be happy till he gets it.

Meantime, those unfortunate salesmen of cars that do not have them are trying to explain why they "do not believe in 4-Wheel Brakes."

Here is a bit of information for all such.

We guarantee you that, within six months, every car, priced at $1,000 and up, will announce 4-Wheel Brakes—or go out of business.

Won't be "out" by that time perhaps, but will be "on the toboggan" and headed downward.

4-Wheel Brakes have been accepted as the greatest safety insurance ever built into a motor car.

Get that—"Built in."

This is a mighty important point.

It's something you should insist upon when considering a car—that the brakes are built in—not tagged onto an old model.

Axles, front and rear, must be specially designed to insure that brakes function properly.

How will you know?

Tell you: when you see a set of "external contracting" brakes—that should be your warning.

For in most cases this is evidence that the maker suddenly realized that buyers now insist on 4-Wheel Brakes—and hastily tried to put them on the cheapest way—without re-designing his axles.

Can't be done.

We tried it. Tried every type of brake; and all fell short of the degree of perfection which Rickenbacker policy demands.

Listen!—of 81 makes of foreign cars, that are equipped with 4-Wheel Brakes, not one has external contracting brakes—not one.

And, so far as we know, only one is hydraulically operated. Only one!

Ask any salesman of cars having "external contracting" brakes these questions:

"Does a mechanism that is exposed to dust, rain, sand and gumbo, and in winter to ice—make a good brake?"

While you may equalize the pressure—can you equalize the effect?

Can you compensate for the fact that one is wet, the other dry; that one has a "sand" contact, the other of greasy mud, or gumbo?

Rickenbacker was designing 4-Wheel Brakes years before others even heard the term.

The first Rickenbacker chassis ever "laid on the drawing board" had brakes on all four wheels.

Had before us, the results of a decade of European engineering. Began where they left off.

And as a result of our research, our resources and engineering skill, we succeeded in producing a better system of brakes than any of them.

We challenge the world on that assertion.

Stand a Rickenbacker beside any European car—the one with the best brakes—and compare.

You will be as proud of this American achievement as we are.

Rickenbacker engineers tried every type of brake, and concluded that the internal, expanding type was the only dependable kind.

Rickenbacker 4-Wheel Brakes are fully enclosed and protected from rain, ice, and sand.

Rickenbacker 4-Wheel Brakes are the only brakes that function perfectly at all times, in all seasons, on all kinds of roads and under every conceivable condition of driving.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that act precisely the same when turning as on a straight-away.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that hold just as well when climbing up—or down—a mountain.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that cannot lock front wheels.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that always exert a greater pressure on rear than on front—and cannot be changed to do otherwise.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that are fool proof—both as to driving and adjustment.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that have no universals or toggle joints or exposed parts.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that cannot freeze or become ice-coated in winter.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that automatically lubricate themselves.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that do not grab, grip, or screech when suddenly applied.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that add to, rather than detract from, the appearance of the car.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that will not become loose and rattle after long wear.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that can be adjusted perfectly by one man.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that a ten-year-old boy can adjust as well as a skilled mechanic.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that have exactly the same braking power going backward as forward.

—the only system whereby front-wheel brakes can be used independently of the rear.

—the only system where the rear wheel brakes can be used 100 per cent independently of the 4-Wheel system.

In a word, this Rickenbacker Six is the only car on the world-market that has three independent braking systems, all of which operate just as successfully backward as forward—and individually as well as collectively.

Other makers will soon follow Rickenbacker by featuring 4-Wheel Brakes.

But—that alone will not put their product on a par with Rickenbacker.

There are several other outstanding features that you can still find only in this product.

For, Rickenbacker has contributed more engineering refinements to the industry in three years than have been developed by all other makers combined in the past ten.

The Vibrationless Motor—due to the two fly-wheels, was a Rickenbacker invention.

The Carbonless Motor—accomplished by the Automatic "Air Cleaner."

The Easiest Steering Car—due to Rickenbacker application of ball bearings in steering spindles.

The Vibrationless Body—due to the "Double Depth" frame invented by Rickenbacker.

The Most Luxurious Riding Car—due to Rickenbacker "Cradle" spring suspension.

So, when others do trail along with 4-Wheel Brakes, they will still be far behind Rickenbacker, the leader.

Salesmen of these obsolete cars will try to discount or discredit 4-Wheel Brakes. (They may be honest at that—for few of them know what the maker's plans are or when he intends to bring out 4-Wheel Brakes.)

So to protect yourself, use this plan!

Tell the salesman you want a signed statement from the head of the concern, asserting positively that his car will not have 4-Wheel Brakes within the next six months!

Insist on a written statement—don't accept the word of a man who does not know.

We will guarantee you now that not one leading maker will sign such a statement. Not one!

And if one did—it would prove he is hopelessly behind the times. 4-Wheel Brakes are here.

At least two makers have admitted that their engineers "have not yet succeeded in developing a perfect working set of 4-Wheel Brakes."

Too bad—better get another engineer!

The world won't wait for a laggard.

The world goes forward—never backward.

Makers may protest and argue and cuss—but they can't turn back the hands of the clock.

Rickenbacker showed the way—others must follow whether they want to or not.

We repeat—"Effective this date—any automobile without 4-Wheel Brakes is obsolete."

Just as obsolete as a car without a self-starter.

Remember—you stop in half the distance that you do with ordinary 2-Wheel Brakes.

Ideal time for a demonstration of this is a rainy day and a "slippery-wet" asphalt pavement.

Ten minutes at the wheel will be a revelation to you.

But don't delay. Demand is tremendous. Today—won't be a minute too soon.

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 9

JOHN MARK

LESSON TEXT—Mark 14:51-53; Acts 12:12; 13:13; Acts 15:36-40; II Tim. 4:11.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might."—Eccles. 9:10.

PRIMARY TOPIC—John Mark, One of Paul's Helpers.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Man Who Failed and Tried Again.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Warning and Encouragement From the Life of Mark.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Mark's Contribution to Christianity.

I. Mark's Home Life (Acts 12:12).

He had the wholesome influence of a Christian home, for his mother was a godly woman. There is no heritage to be compared to that of a godly home. Nothing has such a far-reaching influence upon the life of a young man as the memory of a praying mother. Even when it was so perilous to be known as a follower of Jesus, she was not afraid to have a prayer meeting in her home.

II. Mark With Jesus in Gethsemane (Mark 14:51, 52).

At the sight of the Roman guard, the disciples "all forsook Him and fled." This timid lad still followed the Lord till He laid hold on the young man, he then fled, leaving behind him his linen garment. This Gethsemane experience doubtless had a decided effect upon his life.

III. Mark a Servant of Paul and Barnabas (Acts 12:25-13:5).

Mark was with the company when Peter told of his wonderful release from prison. This, doubtless, made a great impression upon him and was the beginning of his desire to accompany the missionaries of the cross. He was not a missionary on the same footing as Paul and Barnabas, but an attendant upon them to look after their needs.

IV. Mark Deserting Paul and Barnabas (Acts 13:13).

We are not told the cause of this desertion. Three conjectures, one or all of which had a bearing upon his action, are offered.

1. Homesickness. His home was of easy circumstances if not wealthy. As they were carrying the gospel into the rough, mountainous country, occupied by rough, half-civilized people, the mettle of this young servant was tried. We ough not to condemn him too readily, for we know how trying it is to leave home when struggling against the rough world. While sympathizing with him we must remember that duty is stronger than the tender ties of life. The time comes when the soldier must spurn the ties which bind him to father, mother, wife and children, in response to the call of duty. The missionary must turn his back upon home, native land, and friends in his devotion to his Lord.

2. Disbelief in Foreign Missions. There was a common prejudice among the Jews against taking the gospel to the Gentiles. When he saw that these missionaries were going to the "regions beyond," his prejudice may have caused him to turn back.

3. Cowardice. The dangers before them were not imaginary but real. The missionary today faces awful dangers: climate, wild beasts, deadly serpents and insects, and savage and cannibalistic men. However, fear is no excuse for cowardice because we are linked to the Almighty by faith; there is nothing in heaven or on earth that can harm us. Courage is required of those who would do the Lord's work.

V. Mark With Peter in Babylon (I Pet. 5:13).

Some years after Mark's desertion, when Paul and Barnabas were arranging for a second evangelistic tour, they had a sharp dispute over the question of taking Mark with them. Paul would not consent to Mark's accompanying them, so "they departed asunder one from the other." Mark went with his uncle. By this time he must have been cured of his cowardice for we see him associated with Peter in Babylon.

VI. Mark Honored by Paul (II Tim. 4:11).

Paul is now an old man in prison. Mark is a middle-aged man associated with Timothy at Ephesus. Mark had proved himself, for Paul gives the pleasing testimony that "he is profitable unto me for the ministry." Mark is an example of one who made good in spite of his early backsliding.

Heroism.

The world's battlefields have been in the heart chiefly; more heroism has been displayed in the household and the closet than on the most memorable battlefields of history.—H. W. Beecher.

You Must Be Calm.

The language of excitement is at best but picturesque merely. You must be calm before you can utter oracles.—Thoreau.

Little People.

I love these little people and it is not a slight thing, when they, who are so fresh from God, love us.—Dickens.

Greatness and Truth.

If any man seeks for greatness, let him forget greatness and ask for truth, and he will find both.—Horace Mann.

Skin Young is playing with the Mason-Dixon Seven at the Midway Monday night. He's good. 9|7|2t|ch

Right To Have

Obstructionists Rely.

The principal talks were heard at the afternoon meeting by Mr. Kinter, general counsel of the Reading Railway; Mr. Reading, a banker of Williamsport who is understood to be counsel for the Reading, and Mr. Carson, general superintendent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, all of whom appeared on the scene to strenuously oppose the N. Y. C. plan. From the standpoint of the interests of railway, Mr. Crowley, vice president of the N. Y. C., was present to explain the N. Y. C. plan by answering the objections that could reasonably be answered. Practically all the opposition from other communities than Williamsport proper evinced a desire to organize a Susquehanna Valley Bureau for Better Transportation facilities in order that this part of the state should have some agency through which they could speak before the I. C. C., but the full fruition of this desire was prevented at every juncture by those present claiming to speak for the Williamsport Board of Trade, they going so far as to threaten opposition to any program that might be adopted by the proposed organization. They also intimated that it was a gross breach of courtesy to orgnize without the Williamsport Board of Trade being present. The attitude of the two or three members of the Williamsport Board of Trade who were present, together with the tactics employed by those there in a triple capacity—as citizens, Board of Trade directors, and railroad officials—was not conducive to harmonious discussion. Their persistent efforts to block a permanent organization of the communities along the N. Y. C. route was most noticeable and provocative of a determination to get down to business by organization which would conserve the best thought of the conference and translate it into direct action. Time after time motions were made looking to such action and each time it was left die out of respect to the plan representing the Williamsport Board of Trade in the hope that some plan which would meet with their approval could be found. Finally, after a final objection fro mMr. Reading of Williamsport, that gentleman was asked flatly what he had to suggest and in the absence of any suggestion the outside communities voted that a committee of three from each community along the proposed N. Y. C. route should be set up, including Williamsport of course, for the purpose of carrying forward an organized effort towards obtaining for this district what is its proper due in the light of the transportation needs of the nation at large. With this action the afternoon meeting adjourned.

The evening session ran true to form, Chairman Bell of the Board of Trade leading off anything but an exposition of the various plans by the railroad officials present by a neat little speech. The communities represented, being the guests of the Board of Trade, of course chose to take no part in the meeting beyond being auditors and asking a few questions for enlightenment. Mr. H. A. Moore, of DuBois, briefly outlined the transportation needs of the north and west portions of the state. The evening meeting was productive of no more facts as to the various plans than is already in the public print and the Reading attorney confined his remarks largely to holding up before the Williamsport people the spectre of lost terminal facilities and the wonderful facilities of the Reading to serve their needs of the present. More will be said by The Progress on these points in subsequent issues. This meeting was attended by several hundred people, the Lycoming Court room being crowded.

Going to Get Down to Business

Following adjournment fully a half hundred of those who had gone down to Williamsport in the hope that the outcome would be more than a talk-fest, met, as by pre-arranged signal at the Lycoming and decided, with a great deal of determintion, to go forward with organization. Accordingly a call will go out to every businessman and shipper in the Valley from Williamsport to Oil City to come to Clearfield on Tuesday, September 25 ready for direct action on one of the several plans. Invitations will also be extended to the various manufacturers' organizations, shippers' organizations and Boards of Trade along the route.

It is not believed that the attitude of the few officials of the Williamsport Board of Trade present reflects the sentiment of the great body of progressive Williamsport business men and it is confidently believed and

Watch & Clock Repairs

There is quite a knack to repairing watches and clocks. We get all kinds and conditions of them to repair and there has yet one to go out that is not giving the best of satisfaction.

No matter what sort of condition the watch or clock is in when you bring it in we assure you that it will be in first class condition when you take it away. If we don't get it working to satisfy us the first time, we keep at it until it is working as we want it to work.

A long line of repaired watches and clocks attest to this.

from the life and teachings of the 'Lovely Samaroan' the great principle of "project teaching." He pointed out the simple philosophy of many of his parables which have never failed to improve the minds and lives of all who read.

He emphasized the point that teachers, in order that their influence for good may be most felt, must act and live the principals of the 'Great Teacher' rather than merely tell them.

On Friday morning Dr. Beery again addressed the teachers on the subject of 'Leadership' pointing out that personality is the most outstanding characteristic of every individual and may be developed by what we do and what we think. The great factors that lend toward acquiring a forceful personality are:

1. One must have a great purpose.
2. Serve, a great world need.
3. Must always be prepared to do in advance.

The illustrations used were so clear and interesting that every teacher will no doubt enter upon her work with a broader view and more concentrated effort than ever before.

The last period of the Institute was occupied by Dr. Green on the subject 'Growing'.

In developing this subject he used the letters of the word 'growing' as initials of the words,, goodness right order, work, ideals, newness and gladness. He unfolded these thoughts and applied them to the 'growing' development of the teacher. It was a very appropriate address to clinch the ideals and aims of the teachers at the last session of the Institute.

The instructors who took part in the program at this Institute have won the highest regard and respect of the teachers of Clearfield County.

Announcing the 1924 Oakland 6

It's Brand New—and True Blue

This True Blue Oakland was deliberately planned to be the most perfectly balanced, the most accurately engineered and the finest built light-six in the world.

Two years have been devoted to its design, manufacture and test. Two years—plus the wealth of Oakland experience gained through many other years of exclusive light-six manufacture and the limitless resources of General Motors.

From axle to axle—it's new! It embodies features of mechanical superiority—of beauty and comfort and performance—heretofore unheard of in cars of its price! Every single part—from the new engine to the new bodies—was designed and built to fit and function in perfect harmony with every other part.

And because it has been so carefully designed, so soundly built and so thoroughly tested—Oakland places upon it, without hesitation, the same written 15,000 mile engine performance guarantee and the same Mileage-Basis gauge of value that have proved the quality and the value and the excellence of Oakland cars for years!

Four-Wheel Brakes—New Engine—New Bodies!
Special Showing All Week—You Are Invited!

Come in and see this True Blue Oakland—built to be the finest light-six!

Study its exclusive features and you will marvel at the value built into this car at its new low price.

Test its four-wheel brakes—an outstanding safety achievement on a car of Oakland's price! Note how simple they are; learn why they require so much less attention than conventional two-wheel brakes.

Inspect the brand new engine—smoother, quieter and more powerful than even its highly successful predecessor, the Six-44.

See the new blue bodies built by Fisher. The top is permanent with new side curtains comparing in snugness and utility to the doors of a closed car. Controls are centralized on the steering wheel. Disc steel wheels are standard at no added cost.

See this new Oakland at our special showing this week! Don't miss the first public exhibition of this True Blue car—the latest and finest achievement of the Oakland Division of General Motors.

PRESSURE FROM MEN FORCED UNION HEAD TO TAKE BACKWATER

Full Scale Committee of Forty Miners Would Not Back Lewis In His Demands for Checkoff.

STRIKE NEARS END

Harrisburg Sept. 8.—Technical points of the proposed contract, which will send anthracite miners back to work were discussed today when operators and union delegates went into conference again with Governor Pinchot.

Some dispute has arisen over the details and it may take some time to reach a final conclusion.

Both sides, however, now are in complete accord on the four chief points. Pressure brought by miners in the field forced the union chiefs to back down from their demand for a check-off and this paved the way for settlement of the strike, which is now in its eight day.

The first break in the long negotiations between the two sides came when the operators first agreed to Governor Pinchot's plan of settlement. The miner's sub-committee was reluctant to accept the four points, but the Full Scale Committee composed of forty local union men from the coal field refused to back them.

Under the terms of the settlement the miners will get:

First: A basic ten per cent increase in wages.

Second: An eight hour day, with overtime pay if the men are required to work longer.

Third: Collective bargaining with the operators.

Fourth: Full recognition of the union mine workers organization without the check-off. In this last connection, it was agreed that the union leaders would be permitted to stand alongside the pay windows at the mines on payday and collect union fees, although the operators take no responsibility for the payment. There will be no closed shops.

Wilkes Barre, Pa., Sept. 8.—The anthracite region was jubilant today over the prospect of an early settlement of the coal strike and it was confidenly predicted that the miners would ratify a new agreement.

While some of the radical miners in certain districts, such as Pittston, Nanticoke, etc, are said to favor holding out for more, union leaders said today that a tri-district convention would be sure to approve the peace settlement.

Harrisburg, Sept. 7.—Complete agreement upon the main points at issue between anthracite operators and miners upon the basis of Governor Pinchot's peace proposals was reached here today. Joint negotiations to make the agreement effective in a new wage contract and to clear up outstanding differences of lesser importance between the two sides were called at 7 o'clock tonight.

All participants in the negotiations believe that a settlement will be effective and that the anthracite mines, now shut down by union orders, will be reopened within 10 days. Governor Pinchot, discussing the still unsettled points, declared there is "no point of dispute remaining between the two sides which is in any way likely to justify a continuation of the strike."

Unions Must Approve.

Any final agreement, whether reached tonight or later, by the union representatives and the operators' policy committee will be subject to approval by a convention of union delegates from the three United Mine Workers' districts of the anthracite region. The assembling of such a convention would require at least a week, but John L. Lewis, president of the miners, and other miners' union officials, were certain a contract would be negotiated and that their recommendations would be accepted by the tri-district convention.

Governor Pinchot's announcement that the miners' union representatives had agreed to take a 10 per cent wage increase and abandon their demand for "check-off" collection of union dues came at the end of a brief session, in which he met again members

"CROSS CROSSING CAREFULLY" DRIVE IS NOT EFFECTIVE

Fatal Car Accidents at Penna. Railroad Points Doubled In Month of July Despite Warnings.

HOW IT HAPPENS

Despite all warnings against recklessness ,especially on the part of automobile drivers, fatal accidents at grade crossings on the Pennsylvania Railroad more than doubled during July, as compared with the corresponding month of the previous year. This is brought out in a report of the Company's Insurance Department which shows that in July 1923 there were 46 persons killed and 39 injured, in grade crossing casualties as compared with 21 persons killed and 35 injured in July 1922.

The increase in fatalities was 119 per cent. In one instance nine persons were killed in a single automobile, in another four were killed, and there were three accidents, in each of which three persons were killed.

Study of these accidents powerfully emphasizes the fact that many persons are driving motor cars who are not only helpless in emergencies, but also totally fail to realize their responsibility for protecting from death and injury those who ride with them. The contrast between this condition and the rigid rules and regulations of railroad companies with respect to their locomotive engineers is thus brought out in the Insurance Department's report:

"For safety reasons ,the railroads do not permit any one excepting those on duty to ride with a locomotive engineer ,and persons who have business on engines are forbidden to distract his attention. It is frequently seen that automobiles and trucks are filled to capacity and the drivers are so crowded that access to the brakes and gear shift lever is impeded; the conditions under such circumstances may be so distracting that when an emergency arises, a crash is likely to occur as a result of this interference. If similar conditions existed on passenger locomotives disastrous wrecks would probably be as numerous as crossing accidents.

"The Pennsylvania Railroad System has often operated an entire year without a passenger being killed in a train accident, but it is likely that if locomotive engineers treated their responsigility for the safety of passengers as lightly as many drivers of automopiles do, this record could not have been made."

The report cites a number of cases of shocking disregard of automobile drivers for the safety of themselves and those with them. Among them are the following:

"An automobile, occupied by 8 persons, running 35 miles per hour, ran into the side of a locomotive standing on a crossng, all the occupants being injured.

"An automobile, occupied by 4 persons, was driven into the 24th car of a freight train killing 3 and seriously injuring the other.

"An automobile, occupied by the driver and 4 men companions, was driven into the side of a freight train standing on a crossing. The driver was arrested for driving while intoxicated.

"The driver of a motor truck attempted to drive across tracks ahead of a passenger train after other automobiles had stopped. The truck was struck, one person being killed and one injured.

An automoble was stopped at a crossing on signal of the crossing watchman, when another automobile running at high speed knocked the standing car directly into the path of the approaching train; one person was killed and another injured."

Autoist Comes To His Grief Through Failure To Drive His Car Carefully

The bank along the State road at the edge of the Kurtz farm on the Woodland road is being removed by a crew of State Highway Department employes under Forman C. E. Carlson. The cut is quite heavy for a part of the distance and the rock and dirt is being blasted away. About 12:15 yesterday afternoon while about ready to fire a couple of shots a big Hudson car came dashing along the road at a rapid rate of speed. The driver evidently failed to note the "one way traffic" sign until [illegible] a couple hundred feet of the dirt piles along the road. The car, a Hudson, was being driven by Abe Cohen, of Winburne. He clamped his brakes on and slid his wheels along over the road a distance of one hundred and fifty feet before his car ploughed into the dirt pile head on and turned over.

Foreman Carlson and his crew rushed to the overturned car and about the time they reached it Cohen untangled himself from the wreck and rolled out onto the highway, with a damaged knee cap, as about the extent of his injuries.

GETTING DOWN TO CLOSER ESTIMATES IN QUAKE FIGURES

Osaka, Sept. 8.—Japanese earthquake sufferers today number 1,356,470. Unofficial announcement to this effect has been issued in Osaka, while Tokio is rapidly becoming the center of Japaneses official and business life.

The same announcement says that 316,087 houses were destroyed by Saturday's shock, the tidal wave and fires that followed.

It is stated that it is still impossible to estimate correctly the dead but a few official figures indicate a loss of more than 50,000 lives in Tokio and Yokohama combined. Reports from outlying districts will be slow in comeing in.

GREAT BALL GAME AT PHILIPSBURG MONDAY

The Williamsport New York-Pennsylvania League Champions for the year 1923 will play an exhibition game of baseball at Scott Field, Philipsburg, on Monday afternoon, September 10th. Philipsburg will oppose the Wiliamsport champs with the best team they can put in the field. Glenn Killinger and Mike Palm, State College stars will be in the line up for Philipsburg, while Walter Harned, who pitched and won a game for Clearfield against Philipsburg in the foolish days of 1921 will pitch for the Centre county team.

The game is being played for the benefit of the Hospital Building and Betterment Fund and every Clearfield fan who can possibly do so should attend.

It will be a great game and a most worthy cause.

Altoona business men during the day and the teams will meet at the Cricket field at 3 o'clock, both clubs using their regular lineups. The Cricket field has seating accommodations for approximately 35,000 people. Accommodations have been made for a large out of the city crowd of fans.

The Pirates have announced that the regular hurling corps of Adams, Cooper, Meadows, Morrison, Hamilton, Bagby, Steineder, Stone, Wright or Minetree would be used with Schmidt, or Mattox or Gooch catching. The Athletics will have Heimach, Hasty, Rommell, Harris and Ogden ready for pitching work.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 8.—46 persons, arrested under the Pinchot Dry Enforcement Act, were turned loose by the Lackawanna Grand Jury today. These represented every case presented to the Grand Jury. Most of the cases presented were prosecuted by State Troopers.

At the close of the session Thursday afternoon, Dr. Beeler addressed the teachers on the subject "Man's Best Man." He reviewed the outstanding characters in world history, naming Hammurabi as Babylon's greatest man, Confucius the greatest man of China, Socrates of Greece, King 'Tut' of Egypt, and our own beloved Abraham Lincoln as the most outstanding figure in America. Yet all these would kneel in humility and reverence before the 'Great Teacher' who walked the shores of Galilee and taught the doctrine 'Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men." He drew

Mrs. M. J. Owens, of Mt. Joy, received a letter yesterday from her sister, Dr. Rachel Read, who is in Japan and whom it was feared by Dr. Read's relatives here might have been one of the Japanese earthquake victims. No definite word has been received from Dr. Read since the earthquake. It was the opinion of her folks here that she had left Tokio for her summer home in the mountains one hundred miles from the coast and had doubtless escaped the quake which caused such havoc in Tokio.

The letter Mrs. Owens received yesterday was written August 23d and she was overjoyed to learn that her surmises had been correct and that Dr. Read was at her summer home in the mountains. As the letter was dated from there and as it was written just a few days previous to the earthquake there seems to be the best of reasons for believing she was not in Tokio when the disaster occurred.

Klu Klux Clan Burned Four Crosses Near Here Last Night At 9 o'Clock

Clearfield was treated to what is said to have been a real sure enough Ku Klux Klan demonstration last evening. About 9 o'clock a dynamite explosion was heard and despite the rain four crosses were soon blazing upon as many hills about the town in plan view of the townspeople.

Before or during the burning of the crosses a number of cards announcing that the "Ku Klux Klan is here" were distributed about town. These cards contained the following information:—"Ku Klux Klan is Here. For further information write Postoffice box 338, DuBois, Pa.. The old State of Pennsylvania is not what it used to be since the Ku Klux Klan came to town."

Fayette City Woman Mysteriously Missing Since Tuesday Evening

Fayette City, Pa., Sept. 8.—Mysteriously missing since last Tuesday afternoon, when she was seen walking toward her home after visiting a neighbor, Mrs. Winifred Vitula, aged 22, of Fair Hope, two miles south of here, is believed to have been kidnapped by motorists, attracted by her beauty.

State police, Fayette county authorities and local officials were at sea after several days and nights of beating about the underbrush in the vicinity of Fair Hope in the belief that the young woman met with foul play.

Clad in a black sateen cretonne house dress, covered by a sleeveless jacket and wearing tan and grey low cut shoes the young woman was hurrying toward her home in the early afternoon to prepare a meal for her husband, who is a coal miner, when she disappeared.

The fact that nothing in her wardrobe has been touched and a large sum of money was not taken discredits the theory that the young woman left home voluntarily.

RIGHT TO HAVE [illegible] IN RAILWAY [illegible] IS SOUGHT BY [illegible] OF SUSQUEHANNA

Conference Held at Williamsport Yesterday Solidifies Communities In Favor of Action.

MEET HERE SEPT. 22

The business and shipping interests of the West Branch of the Susquehanna Valley marched in full force upon Williamsport yesterday in search of knowledge concerning the proposed merging of the transportation lines of the nation into a limited number of systems. During the past month or so it has just begun to dawn on the people generally that they have a lot at stake in the Transportation Act passed by Congress in 1920 which decreed that the sixteen hundred odd railroads in the nation be merged into a few great systems which, through unified control and operation, could serve more efficiently. The Interstate Commerce Commission, which is the court of last resort in the matter, tentatively have decided upon grouping all of these railroads into twenty-three systems and, on the basis of a report made by Ripley of Yale on the problem, have scrambled the whole mess and shoved it into the proposed twenty three systems.

The Public's Rights.

The plan involves the [illegible]ing of a number of small roads, the allocating of parts of others and the setting up of new through systems of commerce and in such a proposition naturally every shipper has more than a passing interest. The public also has a right to expect that any plan finally approved should do more than maintain a status quo as to adequate transportation, therefore when it was learned that no provision was made for improvement of present facilities or for the requirements of the future of the West Branch Valley, local business men became interested.

Big Attendance.

The New York Central plan of merger set up by President Smith of the N. Y. C., suggested to the I. C. C. as a substitute for the Ripley plan which would better serve the nation, made an impression which seemed to merit strong consideration. Accordingly plans were set in motion for a conference at Williamsport yesterday and it was first proposed that it should be an all day meeting. Later the word went out that it would be an afternoon meeting. Accordingly, the shippers of the valley gathered there yesterday to discuss the I. C. C. plan, the N. Y. C. plan, the Reading plan, etc., from the public angle. Fourteen representative citizens of Clearfield, representing both clubs and individual interests, were present. Twenty-five were there from DuBois. Jersey Shore had five duly accredited delegates, Lock Haven, Brookville, Montgomery, Clarion and, in fact, every community along the N. Y. C. was represented, fully two hundred being in attendance.

Purpose of the Meeting.

When the meeting was called to order, Mr. Thorn, representing President Bell of the Williamsport Board of Trade, presiding, stated the purpose of the meeting as being to hear the various plans outlined and discuss same, and called for nominations for chairman. H. B. Powell, of Clearfield, was named chairman with Maxwell Wingate, secretary. Mr. Powell again outlined the purposes of the meeting, declaring it open to discussion of any or all plans and their effect upon the territory affected and the shipping of the nation. All seemed reluctant to open the discussion; probably because of the complexities of the situation feeling that it should be outlined generally by a competent speaker. Like a stroke from a clear sky came a motion from one of the prominent members of the Williamsport Board of Trade that the meeting adjourn but as ninety per cent of those there were there for business the motion did not prevail. John Fisher, a man most thoroughly conversant with the situation, then took the floor to point out that the under-

Seven Points of Supremacy

1. The sole leather used in "FOOT-FITTERS" is of the best quality obtainable. Even the insoles are cut from standard outsole leather.
2. "FOOT-FITTERS" are the only shoes in the world having full length vamps and sole leather box toes. This feature prevents ripping at the tip and makes a smooth outer and inner surface
3. The insoles are shoulder channeled so that they fit tightly against the outsole. There is no need for room for a cork filler. A small piece of duck is used to prevent squeaking.
4. The Calfskin inside counter pocket is of great value, for it saves the wear on the socks. There is no rough surface to rub against.
5. "FOOT-FITTER" heels are ¼-inch longer than generally used. They give additional support to the arch and increase the comfort and wear of the shoe.
6. The vamp is reinforced with 8-oz. duck This absorbs the moisture from the foot, this keeps the vamp from cracking and holds the shoe in shape.
7. Edmonds' "FOOT-FITTER" shoes are called "FOOT-FITTERS" because they fit the foot snugly [illegible] on combination lasts they support the foot like a doctor's bandage.—"FOOT-FITTERS" give Comfort, Service and Appearance.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

Gust Rolley, of Karthus, one of the most expert and successful fishermen, hunters and trappers in Clearfield County, was in town yesterday and in "talking outdoors" gave us quite a slant at game, fish and wild life conditions in the northern section of the county. We happened along the Caledonia Pike one day last spring while Gust was trying to run down a fox he had trapped during the night and we assisted in the capture of the fox which finally got herself and the trap hanging to her leg, caught in the brush.

Gust cooked for Forest Ranger Bill Buck and his road crew last spring and trapped fifteen adult foxes during the few weeks he was there, which no doubt had a great deal to do with the large number of pheasants and rabbits reported in that section. Now, he has ten of his foxes alive in a den at his home and if he dosen't get a customer for them will keep them until their fur is ripe and ready in the fall and then kill them and get the bounties and make sale of their pelts at a good price. Several of the foxes are exceptionally fine specimens.

Among his trap yield the past season were a pair of mink skins which measured thirty-one and thirty-two inches from tip to tip.

The coal miners have lost their best friend in New York City—Harry B. Rosen, a director of the Harriman National Bank and a special agent of the New York Life Insurance Company. Mr. Rosen died some weeks ago. It was he who said: "The integrity of the 900,000 miners and their families are equal to the wealth of a Rockerfeller. If the national officeers of the coal miners union should again come into this office and want $5,000,000, they could have it in an hour's time."

Mr. Rosen, on behalf of the national officers of the coal miners union, arranged for the $100,000 loan made to them in July, 1922, the security being personal notes given by President John L. Lewis, Vice President J. H. Murry and Secretary-Treasurer William Green. As a result of the transaction the Harriman National Bank became the New York depository for the coal miners. When the mines are open and running the annual income of the notional organization from dues is between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000.

The fame of Rosen prior to his dealings with the miners rested principally upon his success in writing big insurance policies. He signed up Adolph Zukor, the motion picture magnate, for $5,000,000; John McK. Bowman, the hotel magnate, for $2,000,000, and other big men for large policies.

the operators' policy committee and union officials. The operators left the capitol building without letting the decision be known, but Mr. Lewis and the governor remained in the office together to tell what had taken place.

Governor Is Elated.

"It is with the keenest satisfaction that I tell you I am authorized to announce that both miners and operators have now agreed upon the four points of the basis of settlement tendered them, as those points were interpreted in the supplementary statements issued yesterday," the Governor told the assembled newspapermen. "Negotiations for drawing up a new wage contract are to proceed after 7 p. m. in my office between the miners' representatives and the operators' committee and I confidently expect a prompt and complete agreement upon all details.

"In making this announcement I desire to call particular attention to the spirit of fairness and forebearance on the part of both miners and operators with which my efforts to reach a settlement have been met."

Mr. Lewis followed him in a brief address:

"In acquiescing to the four basic points of Governor Pinchot's proposals the representatives of the mine workers have been fully conscious of the public interest. The mine workers proposed to fight to the finish with the anthracite operators and had every reason to believe that the end of such a contest would have brought settlement of their major demands.

Duty to Public Cited.

"We have, however, the natural desire that goes with good citizenship to obviate the public embarrassment and discomfort and the ineyitable suffering that would accompany a conflict between forces of such magnitude.

"We do not feel the wage increase proposed is sufficient to compensate the mine workers for the particular service they render in producing anthracite under the adverse conditions they encounter. Neither do we believe a 10 per cent increase is sufficient to enable them to meet their family needs and other requirements. We feel that our action in this instance in voluntarily agreeing to the public spirited proposals of Governor Pinchot will meet the commendation of the American people and insure for the mine workers a greater degree of consideration for the ills from which they suffer.

"The action of the mine workers was made possible by the operators, when they agreed to abandon their demand for arbitration and their further demand that the mine workers forego asking consideration of the remaining demands not covered by the four points.

Lewis Praises Pinchot.

"In the face of this action representatives of the mine workers are reluctant to continue suspension of production in the industry, which would mean suffering for the mine workers and their families and prove tremendously disturbing to business and seriously dangerous to the American people.

"We have informed the Governor of our willingness to meet the operators and negotiate terms of agreement for a new wage contract, which, when ratified by the mine workers mean a prompt termination of the pending suspension. Governor Pinchot is entitled to the praise of the American people for the diligent and capable manner in which he has devoted himself to the solution of a tremendous problem. The mine workers feel that all credit for the present happy termination of this unfortunate situation is due to him."

Mr. Lewis added that the union order for the suspension of work still stood.

To call it in he explained there must be a satisfactory contract negotiated between the operators and the union's scale committee, a convention of miners' delegates must ratify this and the decision must be conveyed to the local unions. The earliest date at which mining could be resumed under the program sketched, he said, would be a week from Monday, and intervening delays would add to the time.

Lewis Predicts Peace.

At the same time Mr. Lewis and all other union spokesmen were strong in the belief that the remaining differences between operators and the union were insufficient to prevent a final settlement. Operators were less sanguine and agreed to withhold public statements of their views until the end of the meeting, which began later in the evening.

Issues still unsettled between the two groups cover the length of time for which the anticipated wage contract may run, operators being in favor of a single year. The demand of the union for weighing of coal instead of measurement to determine earnings of contract miners; for revision of existing rate sheets to fix earnings of contract miners, and for an increase in the pay hour minimum for all mechanics employed in mine operations and for double time payment for overtime. Upon some of these matters tentative agreements were made at various stages of the recent negotiations, but others were still entirely open. The operators' group, which has been a unit in opposing any wage increase and has announced willingness to make one only at the suggestion of Governor Pinchot, was firm in declaring tonight unwillingness to concede anything as to these points what would add to the cost of coal production.

Washington, Sept. 7.—Gratification was expressed at the White House today at the efforts of Governor Pinchot to bring the anthracite suspension to an end. By the progress he had made the Pennsylvania Govagnor, in the opinion of President Coolidge, has performed a service not only to his home state, but to all consumers of hard coal and especially to the Federal Government in its treatment of a serious problem.

Progress Editorial For Women

HANDICAPPED AT THE START
By FLORENCE DAVIES

"Mother says she'll pay our rent, but I say no. Young people get a better start if they make their way themselves."

It was a broiling day and there was no cooling fan near the counter where gorgeous cretonnes were piled so high that they seemed to intensify the heat with flowers and tropical birds larger and more vivid than any that nature ever contrived. But the girl behind the counter had not been too warm or too tired to be interested in matching a commuter's sample and it was easy to reach the personal note.

"I can't seem to sell as much yard goods as the others, but then I've only been here a few weeks," she confessed. 'Why yes, I like it. Yes, we have to listen to that all day and I do get tired of "no bananas", she smiled as the phonograph at the next counter started on its tireless round once more.

"But I don't mean to stay here always. Just till we get a good start. I've a kiddie two years old—"

And then she told of mother's offer to pay the rent. One was glad that there was an understanding grandma, probably known by some name less suggestive of the chimney corner, after the modern fashion—to look after the baby.

And somehow the day seemed less stifling, the distance to go in a crowded trolley less appalling, even the phonograph less discordant, in the light of the brave little smile that lit the face of baby's mother.

It is so easy to say that all the young folks nowadays shirk responsibility. That they are too "soft" to endure any kind of hardship, and that good times are their only goal. Here was one, at least, ready to do her full part and take the experiment as something to set her farther on her life journey. May she, and all others like her, get the good "start" that they deserve.

Rickenbacker

A • CAR • WORTHY • OF • ITS • NAME

Effective, This Date—

Any Automobile Without 4-Wheel Brakes, is Obsolete!

Read every line of this ad!—it contains good advice and a timely warning for all buyers!

On July first, Rickenbacker announced 4-Wheel Brakes on new models.

We stated then that this would prove "the greatest improvement since the advent of the Self-Starter—13 years ago."

That announcement created a sensation that shook the industry to its very foundations.

Reason for 4-Wheel Brakes is, necessity for greater safety in traffic—not only on city streets, but on the country roads.

Invention, always following closely in the wake of necessity, has produced a perfect system of brakes on all four wheels.

Even rival engineers proclaim this Rickenbacker 4-Wheel Brake "the most beautiful example of fine engineering that has ever graced a motor car—American or European."

Look at them. They tell their own story.

Already, two prominent makers have followed Rickenbacker leadership by announcing 4-Wheel Brakes! Othe—

Engineers in all other plants—(we repeat, "all other plants") are feverishly working to produce a workable 4-Wheel Brake system without infringing Rickenbacker design and certain European patents.

Rickenbacker showr—ms are crowded all the time—so intense is the interest.

Factory swamped with orders.

Seems as if everyone wants a car with 4-Wheel Brakes and won't be happy till he gets it.

Meantime, those unfortunate salesmen of cars that do not have them are trying to explain why they "do not believe in 4-Wheel Brakes."

Here is a bit of information for all such.

We guarantee you that, within six months, every car, priced at $1,000 and up, will announce 4-Wheel Brakes—or go out of business.

Won't be "out" by that time perhaps, but will be "on the toboggan" and headed downward.

4-Wheel Brakes have been accepted as the greatest safety insurance ever built into a motor car.

Get that—"Built in."

This is a mighty important point.

It's something you should insist upon when considering a car—that the brakes are built in—not tagged onto an old model.

Axles, front and rear, must be specially designed to insure that brakes function properly.

How will you know?

Tell you: when you see a set of "external contracting" brakes—that should be your warning.

For in most cases this is evidence that the maker suddenly realized that buyers now insist on 4-Wheel Brakes—and hastily tried to put them on the cheapest way—without re-designing his axles.

Can't be done.

We tried it. Tried every type of brake; and all fell short of the degree of perfection which Rickenbacker policy demands.

Listen!—of 81 makes of foreign cars that are equipped with 4-Wheel Brakes, not one has external contracting brakes—not one.

And, so far as we know, only one is hydraulically operated. Only one!

Ask any salesman of cars having "external contracting" brakes these questions:

"Does a mechanism that is exposed to dust, rain, sand and gumbo, and in winter to ice—make a good brake?"

While you may equalize the pressure—can you equalize the effect?

Can you compensate for the fact that one is wet, the other dry; that one has a "sand" contact, the other of greasy mud, or gumbo?

Rickenbacker was designing 4-Wheel Brakes years before others even heard the term.

The first Rickenbacker chassis ever "laid on the drawing board" had brakes on all four wheels.

Had before us, the results of a decade of European engineering. Began where they left off.

And as a result of our research, our resources and engineering skill, we succeeded in producing a better system of brakes than any of them.

We challenge the world on that assertion.

Stand a Rickenbacker beside any European car—the one with the best brakes—and compare.

You will be as proud of this American achievement as we are.

Rickenbacker engineers tried every type of brake, and concluded that the internal, expanding type was the only dependable kind.

Rickenbacker 4-Wheel Brakes are fully enclosed and protected from rain, ice, and sand.

Rickenbacker 4-Wheel Brakes are the only brakes that function perfectly at all times in all seasons, on all kinds of roads and under every conceivable condition of driving.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that act precisely the same when turning as on a straight-away.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that hold just as well when climbing up—or down—a mountain.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that cannot flock front wheels.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that always exert a greater pressure on rear than on front—and cannot be changed to do otherwise.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that are fool proof—both as to driving and adjustment.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that have no universals or toggle joints or exposed parts.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that cannot freeze or become ice-coated in winter.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that automatically lubricate themselves.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that do not grab, grip, or screech when suddenly applied.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that add to, rather than detract from, the appearance of the car.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that will not become loose and rattle after long wear.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that can be adjusted perfectly by one man.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that a ten-year-old boy can adjust as well as a skilled mechanic.

—the only 4-Wheel Brakes that have exactly the same braking power going backward as forward.

—the only system whereby front-wheel brakes can be used independently of the rear.

—the only system where the rear wheel brakes can be used 100 per cent independently of the 4-Wheel system.

In a word, this Rickenbacker Six is the only car on the world-market that has three independent braking systems, all of which operate just as successfully backward as forward—and individually as well as collectively.

Other makers will soon follow Rickenbacker by featuring 4-Wheel Brakes.

But—that alone will not put their product on a par with Rickenbacker.

There are several other outstanding features that you can still find only in this product.

For, Rickenbacker has contributed more engineering refinements to the industry in three years than have been developed by all other makers combined in the past ten.

The Vibrationless Motor—due to the two fly-wheels, was a Rickenbacker invention.

The Carbonless Motor—accomplished by the Automatic "Air Cleaner."

The Easiest Steering Car—due to Rickenbacker application of ball bearings in steering spindles.

The Vibrationless Body—due to the "Double Depth" frame invented by Rickenbacker.

The Most Luxurious Riding Car—due to Rickenbacker "Cradle" spring suspension.

So, when others do trail along with 4-Wheel Brakes, they will still be far behind Rickenbacker, the leader.

Salesmen of these obsolete cars will try to discount or discredit 4-Wheel Brakes. (They may be honest at that—for few of them know what the maker's plans are or when he intends to bring out 4-Wheel Brakes.)

So to protect yourself, use this plan!

Tell the salesman you want a signed statement from the head of the concern, asserting positively that his car will not have 4-Wheel Brakes within the next six months!

Insist on a written statement—don't accept the word of a man who does not know.

We will guarantee you now that not one leading maker will sign such a statement. Not one!

And if one did—it would prove he is hopelessly behind the times. 4-Wheel Brakes are here.

At least two makers have admitted that their engineers "have not yet succeeded in developing a perfect working set of 4-Wheel Brakes."

Too bad—better get another engineer!

The world won't wait for a laggard.

The world goes forward—never backward.

Makers may protest and argue and cuss—but they can't turn back the hands of the clock.

Rickenbacker showed the way—others must follow whether they want to or not.

We repeat—"Effective this date—any automobile without 4-Wheel Brakes is obsolete."

Just as obsolete as a car without a self-starter.

Remember—you stop in half the distance that you do with ordinary 2-Wheel Brakes.

Ideal time for a demonstration of this is a rainy day and a "slippery-wet" asphalt pavement.

Ten minutes at the wheel will be a revelation to you.

But don't delay. Demand is tremendous. Today—won't be a minute too soon.

Sunday School Lesson

(By REV. F. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR SEPTEMBER 9

JOHN MARK

LESSON TEXT—Mark 14:51-52; Acts 12:12; 13:5; Acts 15:36-40; II Tim. 4:11.

GOLDEN TEXT—"Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might."—Eccles. 9:10.

PRIMARY TOPIC—John Mark, One of Paul's Helpers.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Man Who Failed and Tried Again.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Warning and Encouragement From the Life of Mark.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Mark's Contribution to Christianity.

I. Mark's Home Life (Acts 12:12).

He had the wholesome influence of a Christian home, for his mother was a godly woman. There is no heritage to be compared to that of a godly home. Nothing has such a far-reaching influence upon the life of a young man as the memory of a praying mother. Even when it was so perilous to be known as a follower of Jesus, she was not afraid to have a prayer meeting in her home.

II. Mark With Jesus in Gethsemane (Mark 14:51, 52).

At the sight of the Roman guard, the disciples "all forsook Him and fled." This timid lad still followed the Lord till laid hold on by the young men, he then fled, leaving behind him his linen garment. This Gethsemane experience doubtless had a decided effect upon his life.

III. Mark a Servant of Paul and Barnabas (Acts 12:25-13:5).

Mark was with the company when Peter told of his wonderful release from prison. This, doubtless, made a great impression upon him and was the beginning of his desire to accompany the missionaries of the cross. He was not a missionary on the same footing as Paul and Barnabas, but an attendant upon them to look after their needs.

IV. Mark Deserting Paul and Barnabas (Acts 13:13).

We are not told the cause of this desertion. Three conjectures, one or all of which had a bearing upon his action, are offered.

1. Homesickness. His home was of easy circumstances if not wealthy. As they were carrying the gospel into the rough, mountainous country, occupied by rough, half-civilized people, the mettle of this young servant was tried. We ought not to condemn him too readily, for we know how trying it is to leave home when struggling against the rough world. While sympathizing with him we must remember that duty is stronger than the tender ties of life. The time comes when the soldier must spurn the ties which bind him to father, mother, wife and children, in response to the call of duty. The missionary must turn his back upon home, native land, and friends in his devotion to his Lord.

2. Disbelief in Foreign Missions. There was a common prejudice among the Jews against taking the gospel to the Gentiles. When he saw that these missionaries were going to the "regions beyond," his prejudice may have caused him to turn back.

3. Cowardice. The dangers before them were not imaginary but real. The missionary today faces awful dangers: climate, wild beasts, deadly serpents and insects, and savage and cannibalistic men. However, fear is no excuse for cowardice because we are linked to the Almighty by faith; there is nothing in heaven or on earth that can harm us. Courage is required of those who would do the Lord's work.

V. Mark With Peter in Babylon (I Pet. 5:13).

Some years after Mark's desertion, when Paul and Barnabas were arranging for a second evangelistic tour, they had a sharp dispute over the question of taking Mark with them. Paul would not consent to Mark's accompanying them, so "they departed asunder one from the other." Mark went with his uncle. By this time he must have been cured of his cowardice for we see him associated with Peter in Babylon.

VI. Mark Honored by Paul (II Tim. 4:11).

Paul is now an old man in prison. Mark is a middle-aged man associated with Timothy at Ephesus. Mark had proved himself, for Paul gives the pleasing testimony that "he is profitable unto me for the ministry." Mark is an example of one who made good in spite of his early backsliding.

Heroism.

The world's battlefields have been in the heart chiefly; more heroism has been displayed in the household and the closet than on the most memorable battlefields of history.—H. W. Beecher.

You Must Be Calm.

The language of excitement is at best but picturesque merely. You must be calm before you can utter oracles.—Thoreau.

Little People.

I love these little people and it is not a slight thing, when they, who are so fresh from God, love us.—Dickens.

Greatness and Truth.

If any man seeks for greatness, let him forget greatness and ask for truth, and he will find both.—Horace Mann.

Right To Have

ence should resolve itself into a public meeting because in the meeting before the I. C. C. the railroads might expect, of course be represented by their counsel, but that the public, whose interests were at stake, naturally would have no right to count unless they made a study of the situation, decided which was the best plan, and were represented at the hearings. Mr. Fisher's remarks were timely and to the point and the audience waxed warm and fast for fully three hours.

Obstructionists Rebuked.

The principal talks were made at the afternoon meeting by Mr. Ritter, general counsel of the Reading Railway, Mr. Reading, a banker of Williamsport who is understood to be counsel for the Reading, and Mr. Carson, general superintendent of the Pennsylvania Railroad, all of whom appeared on the scene to vigorously oppose the N. Y. C. plan from the standpoint of the interested railways. Mr. Crowley, vice president of the N. Y. C., was present to explain the N. Y. C. plan by answering the questions that could reasonably be answered. Practically all the talks present from other communities than Williamsport proper evinced a desire to organize a Susquehanna Valley Club for Better Transportation facilities in order that this part of the state should have some agency through which they could speak before the I. C. C., but the full fruition of this desire was prevented at every juncture by those present claiming to speak for the Williamsport Board of Trade, they going so far as to threaten opposition to any program that might be adopted by the proposed organization. They also intimated that it was a gross breach of courtesy to orgnize without the Williamsport Board of Trade being present. The attitude of the two or three members of the Williamsport Board of Trade who were present, together with the tactics employed by those there in a triple capacity—as citizens, Board of Trade directors, and railroad officials—was not conducive to harmonious discussion. Their persistent efforts to block a permanent organization of the communities along the N. Y. C. route was most noticeable and provocative of a determination to get down to business by organization which would conserve the best thought of the conference and translate it into direct action. Time after time motions were made looking to such action and each time it was left die out of respect to the men representing the Williamsport Board of Trade in the hope that some plan which would meet with their approval could be found. Finally, after a final objection fro mMr. Reading of Williamsport, that gentleman was asked flatly what he had to suggest and in the absence of any suggestion the outside communities voted that a committee of three from each community along the proposed N. Y. C. route should be set up, including Williamsport of course, for the purpose of carrying forward an organized effort towards obtaining for this district what is its proper due in the light of the transportation needs of the nation at large. With this action the afternoon meeting adjourned.

The evening session ran true to form, Chairman Bell of the Board of Trade leading off anything but an exposition of the various plans by the railroad officials present by a neat little speech. The communities represented, being the guests of the Board of Trade, of course chose to take no part in the meeting beyond being auditors and asking a few questions for enlightenment. Mr. H. A. Moore, of DuBois, briefly outlined the transportation needs of the north and west portions of the state. The evening meeting was productive of no more facts as to the various plans than is already in the public print and the Reading attorney confined his remarks largely to holding up before the Williamsport people the spectre of lost terminal facilities and the wonderful facilities of the Reading to serve their needs of the present. More will be said by The Progress on these points in subsequent issues. This meeting was attended by several hundred people, the Lycoming Court room being crowded.

Going to Get Down to Business

Following adjournment fully a half hundred of those who had gone down to Williamsport in the hope that the outcome would be more than a talk-fest, met, as by pre-arranged signal at the Lycoming and decided, with a great deal of determintion, to go forward with organization. Accordingly a call will go out to every businessman and shipper in the Valley from Williamsport to Oil City to come to Clearfield on Tuesday, September 25 ready for direct action on one of the several plans. Invitations will also be extended to the various manufacturers' organizations, shippers' organizations and Boards of Trade along the route.

It is not believed that the attitude of the few officials of the Williamsport Board of Trade present reflects the sentiment of the great body of progressive Williamsport business men and it is confidently believed and hoped that Williamsport will be represented [illegible] by a large delegation at the meeting to be held at 2 o'clock.

There is quite a knack to repairing watches and clocks. We get all kinds and conditions of them to repair and there has yet one to go out that is not giving the best of satisfaction.

No matter what sort of condition the watch or clock is in when you bring it in we assure you that it will be in first class condition when you take it away. If we don't get it working to satisfy us the first time, we keep at it until it is working as we want it to work.

COUNTY INSTITUTE CLOSES

from the life and teachings of the 'Lovely Unsworn' the great principle of "project teaching." He pointed out the simple philosophy of many of his parables which have never failed to improve the minds and lives of all who read.

He emphasized the point that teachers, in order that their influence for good may be most felt, must act and live the principals of the 'Great Teacher' rather than merely tell them.

On Friday morning Dr. Beeby again addressed the teachers on the subject of 'Leadership' pointing out that personality is the most outstanding characteristic of every individual and may be developed by what we do and what we think. The great factors that lend toward acquiring a forceful personality are:

1. One must have a great purpose.
2. Sense, a great world need.
3. Must always be prepared to do in advance.

The illustrations used were so clear and interesting that every teacher will no doubt enter upon her work with a broader view and more concentrated effort than ever before.

The last period of the Institute was occupied by Dr. Green on the subject 'Growing'.

In developing this subject he used the letters of the word 'growing' as initials of the words,, goodness, rightful order, work, ideals, newness and gladness. He unfolded these thoughts and applied them to the 'growing' development of the teacher. It was a very appropriate address to clinch the ideals and aims of the teachers at the last session of the Institute.

The instructors who took part in the program at this Institute have won the highest regard and respect of the teachers of Clearfield County.

This True Blue Oakland was deliberately planned to be the most perfectly balanced, the most accurately engineered and the finest built light-six in the world.

Two years have been devoted to its design, manufacture and test. Two years—plus the wealth of Oakland experience gained through many other years of exclusive light-six manufacture and the limitless resources of General Motors.

From axle to axle—it's new! It embodies features of mechanical superiority—of beauty and comfort and performance—heretofore unheard of in cars of its price! Every single part—from the new engine to the new bodies—was designed and built to fit and function in perfect harmony with every other part.

And because it has been so carefully designed, so soundly built and so thoroughly tested—Oakland places upon it, without hesitation, the same written 15,000 mile engine performance guarantee and the same Mileage-Basis gauge of value that have proved the quality and the value and the excellence of Oakland cars for years!

Special Showing All Week—You Are Invited!

Study its exclusive features and you will marvel at the value built into this car at its new low price.

Test its four-wheel brakes—an outstanding safety achievement on a car of Oakland's price! Note how simple they are; learn why they require so much less attention than conventional two-wheel brakes.

A Nation-Wide Demonstration

"True Blue Travelers"—of which the 1924 Oaklands are exact counter parts—have started on a remarkable tour! They are part of Oakland's fleet of test cars, some of which have traveled fifty thousand miles. Traveling the routes indicated on this map, they are demonstrating not only the high quality of Oakland construction, but also the remarkably efficient performance buyers may expect from their True Blue Oaklands after months of the hardest service.
